GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK.

IRIAH LAD RETIRES WITH MEMORABLE RECORD.

No Horse Has a Better One, All in All -Highball Not to Be Overlooked in the Three-Year-Old Division-The Palmbearer Case to Be Looked Into Further.

This has been a phenomenal racing season record for a mile and a quarter and the development of still another wonderful threeyear-old, Broomstick. Three-year-olds, by the way, have been the means of upsetting the calculations of the public in regard to many big races, and while John A. Drake's Ort Wells is regarded by many as the champion of his age there are other turf sharps showing in the Brighton meant that he had gone back in form, in fact that he had been worked too hard.

Highball, who gave seven pounds to Ort Wells and eleven to Broomstick, has been winning over thousands of admirers ever since he captured the American Derby. He performed so well in the Brighton that many stand ready to hall the Ben Strome colt as stand ready to nail the Ben Strome cost as the real champion of his age. Broomstick is a wonderful horse, no mistake, but the turf sharps want to see him pick up weight and beat his rivals for three-year-old honors before proclaiming him the best of that division.

Beginning with Irish Lad's victory in the Metropolitan Handicap at Morris Park, the great Candlemas colt has kept himself in the public eye ever since. He was beaten a head by The Picket in the Brooklyn Handicap and ran third to Hermis and The Picket in the Suburban. In the Brooklyn his defeat was ascribed to Shaw's riding, the jockey taking Irish Lad wide at the head of the stretch and letting The Picket come through on the rail. In the Suburban Irish Lad wore blinkers for the first time in two years, and Shaw was for the first time in two years, and shaw we instructed to wait with him—a combination of circumstances that helped to beat him. In the Advance Stakes, a mile and three-eighths, weight for age, Irish Lad, ridden by Hildebrand, hung up a new world's record of 2:17 3-1 and beat Ort Wells by a narrow margin The Candlemas colt packed 126 pounds or that occasion and ran without blinkers, with a burr on his bit to keep him from running out. Irish Lad, with 132 pounds, ran third in the Commonwealth Handicap, a mile and a quar ter, beaten by Ort Wells and The Picket That was a week ago Saturday, and the great horse did no hard work afterward for the Brighton, because of the indication of a ringbone, yet he comes back with his best race of There is scarcely a doubt that Irish Lad would have won had it not been for the fact that his underpinning failed him in the last furlongs. He finished practically on three legs and was only beaten a head at He lost just enough ground to suffer defeat when he swerved under the whip and Hildebrand, incidentally, was criticised yesterday for going to the "bat" at all, turfmen expressing the belief that with kind persuasion he might have jollied Irish Lad into staying in front to the end. With 127 pounds, a crushing impost, Irish Lad ran the first mile in 1:37 4-5, the fastest time ever track. On Wednesday Hermis, with 133 pounds, ran a mile in the Test Handicap in 1:38. On this basis, therefore, the question naturally arises: What would Hermis have done in the Brighton with 129 pounds up, and Irish Lad setting such a tremendous pace? Could Hermis have stuck it out to the end? Too bad that he did not go to the

With Irish Lad's career at an end it is in order to say for him that no greater race-horse ever looked through a bridle. He combined all the qualities of a champion and was a popular idol long to be remembered He will be retired, no doubt, to Harry Payne Whitney's Brookdale Stud, where he wil join the stallions and brood mares already there. That Irish Lad should go wrong a a time when Hermis and The Picket were both ailing with weak legs may mean that these great horses have had too much racing. the Brighton, and Joyner will now bend his energy to fit the black horse for the Great Republic at Saratoga. Waterboy convinced loyner before he had run a half mile on Saturday that he was not ready for such a gruelling race, although his astute trainer said in the morning that the horse could run in 2:03 if necessary. If Waterboy had been the Waterboy of a year ago, when he hung up a new world's record for the dis-tance, he would have gone to the front and fought it out with Irish Lad and Broomstick but instead he could not get out of his own way when Lyne tried to get him going.

The action of the stewards in taking up the form reversal of E. R. Thomas's Palmbear on Saturday has not ended, so the gossip insisted yesterday. When Palmbearer w badly beaten on Wednesday he was ridden H. Phillips, not Travers as stated through an error yesterday. After that affair, it said, Thomas went before the steward and declared that Phillips's handling of horse was wholly to blame for his defea Thomas bet on Palmbearer that day at 2 to and was horrifled to see him beaten by Gliste and Palm Reader, an ordinary selling plate Travers, who rode Palmbearer on Saturda was a tremendous improvement over Phillip and the horse won in time that was almost two seconds faster than the figures hung out for Wednesday's affair. Thomas, it is understood, said that the form reversal was due simply to a change of riders. He beat the books, it is stated, out of a large amount. Thomas's partner, Shields, is one of the smartest horsemen on the turf. When Thomas and Shields doubled up it was generally predicted that they would prove a brace of erros by Doolin, Wagner's three bagpowerful combination, the former with ger and Vinson's single. Score: wealth and the latter with unlimited turf experience. They have been betting heavily on their horses all the year, but it was not until Hermis won the Suburban that Thomas began to get back some of the losses sus tained earlier in the season.

It was said yesterday that the Palmbearer race would be further investigated by the stewards and that there might be some lively times before long. Thomas does not have the friendliest of feeling, it is said, for Andrew Miller, the steward who interviewed him on Saturday. Hermis won a race a technicality over the registration of the new Thomas-Shields partnership, Miller is said to have been the means of having Hermis dis-

The programme of stake events to be decided at Brighton this week is particularly attractive. To-morrow the Seagate for threeyear-olds, one mile and a furlong, will be run. Ort Wells and Highball are both engaged in this event and may start. On Wednesday the Jamaica Stakes, for three-year-olds and upward, at six furlongs, is the feature, with the Winged Foot Handicap at six furlongs, for two-year-olds, down for decision on Thursday. On Saturday the $15,000 Brighton Junior Stakes, for two-year-olds, six furlongs: the Islip Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a furlong, and the Curragh Steeplechase should pro

Hildebrand has ridden eight winners since the opening of the Brighton meeting on Wednesday. In the last fifteen days he has handled twenty-one firsts. His success is not due to good luck so much as to superb horsemanship, for this boy can make horses that have been no account with other boys up show wonderful improvement. As a nat-ural sequence the public swears by Hildebrand, and every mount he takes, no matter what the horse or the price may be, is generously backed. He is doing all the riding for the Dur yea stable now, while Willie Shaw, still under contract to the stable, is compelled to remain idle. Shaw has ridden only one winner in the last two weeks, and that was on Friday, when he handled De Reszke. O'Neill, H. Phillips, Redfern, Crimmins, Travers, Burns and Martin have all been riding well lately.

"Dec" Streett's horses, many of them bred at James R. Keene's Castleton Stud, were sold at auction in Chicago on Saturday. Big Ben went to "Boots" Durnell for $4,280. Port Royal was knocked down for $4,000 to J. A. Wernberg, who also bought Mad Mullah for

ST. LOUIS (N. L.), 3: NEW YORK (N. L.), 2-FIRST ST. Louis, July 10.-New York and St. Louis split even on the second double-header in two days this afternoon before a crowd Taylor had the Cardinals shut out up to the ninth, when he let down, and St. Louis put a run over the plate, with New York three runs to the good. In both games the fielding was fast and the baseball all but perfect. In the opening game Nichols, the veteran who has been pulling the St. Louis team back to a .500 percentage every time the other pitchers have dropped it below that, again twirled his team to victory. New York hit him freely in the first four innings, and it looked as though the two runs gained then would prove enough to earn a victory for McGinnity. The Iron Man let down in the second half of the fourth, however, and again in the sixth, and the Cardinals gained the lead in the latter inning.

In the second game Taylor pitched brilliantly, and up to the ninth inning St. Louis had made but three hits off his delivery. O'Neill was not hit hard, and up to the ninth New York had made only one run off him. Then Mike was landed on for four hits and two

TIMELY HITS WANTING.

One Fault in New York Americans' Play -Bresnahan's Batting Feat.

The New York Americans were winning games on the road because their batting was timely. That is more than it has been since they got home. The games against the Philadelphias last week were won large-ly through Philadelphia errors; the games last week against Boston were not won, and the most conspicuous cause therefor was plishment that was very much in evidence on the road is quite the reverse at home Why this should be so is something that defles explanation. It is one of the things that just happens. The New Yorks fell of in their batting last week, and, naturally there would be proportionately fewer timely In only one game of the seven played were double figure hits made, and then the total barely got beyond the single figure

Yet more games were won last week than were lost. The unfortunate part of it was the three defeats out of seven games came just where victories would have done the most good. Defeat by Boston, the team of all others to be knocked down to go to the front, was doubly costly defeat. It was a fine opportunity to wrest the lead from the champions, but the champions played the bester ball and increased their lead. Thus Griffith's fond hopes of using the Bostons as stepping stones to first place are deferred awhile. They are by no means permanently vanished in Griffith's opinion, for Griffith is man who never lets go while there is a chance and never counts himself beaten intil out. And he has a team of strong recuperative powers and one that comes back with all their ups and downs last week, the New Yorks did some mighty pretty fielding. In the base running line there was not much doing. The cranks grew restive under the inactivity in this department. "Why don't they take a chance?" was a criticism heard, and on the surface, at least, there was ground for it. Yet Keeler, Conroy, Fultz and Elberfeld have had trouble with their legs this season, which has materially handicapped them as base runners. Again, the ground has been heavy from rain a good deal fately, and that slows up base runners. Bresnahan's batting in the two games in St. Louis last Saturday deserves special mention. The New York outfielder made four hits in the first game and three in the second—seven hits in one day—and that's batting some. Of the seven hits two were two baggers, one was a triple and one a home run. The seven hits were good for a total of fourteen bases, and that's batting some more. But the New York Nationals as a whole have improved immensely with the stick since the middle of June. They did not bat well on their last trip West. As they'se batting much better now and have a long lead, their chances of finishing in front are considerably better than when they were West before, and they were not bad then. With all their ups and downs last week,

GOLF TOPICS OF THE WEEK.

OPEN AMATEUR TOURNAMENT ON THE APAWAMIS LINKS.

Connecticut State Championship Od at Hartford - Legislative Meeting of United States Association—Ekwanek Committee Announces Dates-Results. This week's nearby tournament is the open event for amateurs at the Apawamis Golf Club links at Rye, the scene last month of Mrs. Manice's third victory in the women's Metropolitan Golf Association champion-ship. At the Apawamis tournament last year, while R. C. Carroll won the low score medal in the qualifying round, Walter Travis won the first cup by defeating Findlay Douglas, despite the latter's 73 in the afternoon. F. J. O. Alsop won the second cup. Carroll and Alsop will probably be away at the Connecticut State championship, to be played on Wednesday and the following days at the Hartford Golf Club, for with C. H. Seely a non-starter both have more than an outside opportunity to figure very prominently in the competition. Both Travis and Douglas are regarded as probable starters, however, and there will be no lack of other players. There were forty-four to finish in the qualifying round last year. The entries will close at the Apawamis Club on Tuesday night.

At the open championship at Glen View last week President Windeler presided at a six hour session of the committee to invest gate the standing of the associate and allied clubs. Those at the meeting were: S. Y. clubs. Those at the meeting were: S. Y. Heebner, Philadelphia Country Club; Lionel H. Graham, Baltusrol Golf Club; D. R. Forgan, Onwentsia Club; Charles T. Atkinson, Midlothian Club; Sidney A. Foster, Des Moines Country Club, and Benedict Crowell, Cleveland Country Club.

Investigation by the committee, so far as could be learned, has not disclosed any burning desire among the allied clubs for a voting representation in U. S. G. A. affairs if their annual dues are to be raised from $10, while many of the allied clubs are quite willing to have their dues cut from $100 and to have the allied clubs pay more money and do some of the hard work. The committee will prepare its report and submit it within two months to the executive committee of the United States association.

in Fairmount Park. PHILADELPHIA, July 10 .- Sewed up in a mattress the body of a man who had been nurdered by a series of stab wounds over the right breast was found early this morning in the bushes along the bank of Wissahickon creek near Rittenhouse street bridge. The body was that of a foreigner, probably an Italian. The hands were calloused and marked with dark stains such as might soil those of a machinist. A scapular, a pay check and a paper reading "See Mr. Way at the office on Wednesday morning" were in his pocket. It is by the paper and the check that the police are trying to find the man's employer.

Tracks on the ground indicate that the body had been brought over from Germantown in a light wagon drawn by one horse. It came down Rittenhouse street to the drive, turned up and went on for about fifty yards. Then the mattress containing the body was hurled over the rail into the bushes.

Commissioner Lindsley Objects to Uniform Worn by B. R. T. Special Policemen. Deputy Police Commissioner Lindsley vesterday inspected the points where trouble has occurred when passengers on the Coney Island and Brooklyn and the B. R. T. lines of trolley cars decline to pay a second fare. He found, he said, that the uniform of the B. R. T. special policemen is too much like that of the Metropolitan police to suit him.

"I shall make certain recommendations to Commissioner McAdoo with regard to these uniforms," he said. "You can infer these uniforms," he said. "You can infer what those recommendations will be. My report, which will be made to-morrow or Tuesday to the Commissioner, will include a number of complaints against special policemen."

Very few passengers were ejected yesterday for non-payment of fares, though many paid under protest.

John Kelly and his spouse, of 379 Hancock street, Long Island City, defied the conductor of Coney Island and Brooklyn car No. 747 to eject them at Neck Road.

"Touch me," said Mrs. Kelly, "a mother of ten children going out for a bit of recreation! Thry it!"

"Just you touch her!" the husband put in darkly.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 10 .- Seven of the ten yachts that started from New York to race around Nantucket South Shoals lightship to this port for prizes offered by the Eastern Yacht Club, are anchored in the harbor to-night. It is believed the Aspirant and Pohatuck have withdrawn, as neither has been reported from any point along Cape Cod. The yawl Egret is out of the race, having gone into Greenport yesterday.

Following the schooners Lasca and Corona, which arrived last night, the third yacht in was the sloop Cossack, and she was over eighty-three hours in making the trip, as she finished at 3:30 o'clock this morning. Half an hour later the schooner Undercliff crossed the finish line, the leader in the class for small schooners. ship to this port for prizes offered by the the finish line, the leader in the class for small schooners.

An hour and a half later, Commodore Minot's schooner Hope Leslie appeared and fifty minutes afterward the schooner Indra finished. The sloop Katonah did not arrive until just before noon.

The race was a most unsatisfactory one, owing to the weather, and the yacht owners agree that there was no test of speed or seamanship, luck in picking up the marks and in getting out of calm streaks being factors of greater importance in the race.

The captains report that they were beset with fogs, calms and baffling winds; but although the voyage was tedious, they favor holding a similar race next season. As some of the yachts have not been measured, the winners have not been determined except in the large schooner class.
